The progress, for those who don't know, is the fact that in March our knee-jerk "we could definitely use some new blood on the project" response was answered by a concerned Vladimir Tcherkov, who sent us the following: [W]hen you say it would be a monthly thing, so I thought you'd be tied up with other things. Maybe some month I will have time for new stone and marble restorations. But right now I'm focused on the pre-war buildings. In any case I would like to contribute to the project, even if it is the smallest part. Here's how you can do that: Work with us! Basically, what that means is, volunteer to help with restoration. You don't need to be a stone carver or have any skills in restoration; there's lots of people working with us, and anyone who is willing can certainly help out on various projects. Basically: if you're interested, just email me and I'll send you the info you need. We're excited about this, and would appreciate any help we can get. So: if you're interested in helping, email me at john.levy@igna-naples.org. On a personal note: I'm always open to new ways to work on the project, and the engagement with Vlady here would be one of them. I've already spoken with him about his interest in working on some of the projects he mentioned (he had done something similar in the past f678ea9f9e
